Department of Justice Issues Business Review Letter

In a letter from John W. Clark, Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust Division, to B. Lawrence Theis, counsel for the Colorado Asphalt Producers Association ("CAPA"), the Department advised that it does not intend to challenge the proposal by CAPA to initiate an asphalt industry advancement program ("AIAP") to engage in the research and development of a better asphalt product and to promote the advantages of asphalt cement over concrete. CAPA is a non-profit industry association comprised of 65 members which are engaged in the production of asphalt cement and in the construction of roads and highways, using asphalt cement, in the state of Colorado. Beginning sometime in 1993 and extending over a five-year period, CAPA plans to initiate a new assessment methodology to collect a higher assessment from its members to fund the AIAP. Participation in the program is open to non-members of CAPA and is voluntary for CAPA members.
